Q1 Attitudes and threats from the current administration that target individuals on the basis of their ethnicity or religious affiliation have caused many people to be concerned and even afraid. 5	The characterization of the Trump administration position on Dreamers in the survey is not accurate. Trump has proposed a path for citizenship for nearly 2 million Dreamers, in return for increased border security. Why are you sending a survey that does not ask relevant questions???	2/14/2018 7:35 PM
6	Hate crimes and harassment do not have to be tied to immigration. This is a bias slant. There is an issue in this country as to whether DACA individuals are in our country legally or illegally. I think the supreme court should decide this issue. The DACA issue expires March 5th this year, I believe. The President made the right decision to throw this issue back to Congress. If Congress cannot resolve this issue than DACA individuals have to follow the law and leave this country if requested. Other illegal individuals should be deported and not given sanctuary. They should apply for entry into our country legally. Sanctuary cities are breaking Federal law. Government officials who break our laws should be prosecuted. Our lower Courts are trying to make new laws or interpret laws based on their biases instead of the letter or intent of the law. These judges swore to uphold existing law and they have broken this promise. These judges should step down from office.	2/14/2018 5:14 PM
7	Look at the facts (Seattle Times 2/13), Dreamers are no different than American citizens. They are not all highly educated and hard working. Let them earn their citizenship, knock off the special treatment.	2/14/2018 5:12 PM
8	If you have broken the Federal Immigration laws, your remaining in the US should be in jeopardy. You should not be put ahead of those who have immigrated legally. Former assessor, Scott Noble, once said that if there were no subsidies or exemptions, out property tax would be cut in half. Property tax subsidies should be borne by everyone and not just property owners as it is a form of welfare. Also, subsidies should be far more less generous. I have neighbors who pay $500 and $1800, respectively, comparted to my over $4000. One can display a facad of neighborliness, but not much more. I was always told that if you can't afford something, such as a house, you don't buy it. Estate taxes is another issue. Deductions are the lowest or as low as for any other state. If one saves to finance their own assisted care, that person can make a sizeable gift to the STATE if one dies early in life. Some states have increase their deduction that of the Federal Government; WA should do the same. With regard to my property and estate tax gripes, bear in mind that these will affect may of your folks in the legislature.	2/14/2018 1:14 PM
9	I don't support deportation of anyone based on their religious or ethnic background. However, I do object to people who are here illegally and taking advantage of our schools and other "perks" that the citizens of the US have paid and worked for. I'll admit I'm not a brain trust on immigration but I don't understand why people don't either apply for citizenship or apply for a green card. Is there something that prevents them from doing so? My parents and grandparents immigrated here, applied for and got citizenship, worked, raised kids and paid taxes. I KNOW there are legal ways for immigrants to live and work here. If they CHOOSE not to, then they shouldn't get anything. If there is a reason they can't apply for citizenship or a green card because of where they came from or their religion, then that's got to be fixed.	2/13/2018 6:05 PM
