An equitable Washington for all people

Everyone deserves respect and a fair chance in life – no matter where they come from. This year, we worked on building a more equitable and effective Washington for all people. We passed bold policies that put people first, including working toward closing gaps in internet access needed to attend school and work from home and creating the nation’s first statewide Office of Equity, which will coordinate the work that state agencies are doing to ensure that all people in Washington are getting the same fair chance.

Responding to COVID-19

Washington’s Legislature is standing strong against the COVID-19 pandemic. To respond to this unexpected crisis, the Legislature passed several critical policies and funded over $200 million in investments to increase capacity in hospitals, make it easier to hire health care workers, expand testing and provide vital resources to help small businesses, workers and families. We are all in this together as one Washington.
